Secondary Professional Learning

Target Group
Teachers who have responsibility for the Maths and Science learning of secondary school students.

The Program
This full day program provides an opportunity to explore the common set of skills and behaviours that can be developed through Mathematics and Science activities, using the principles embodied in VELS. The three sessions are:

A. Assessment and reporting in mathematics and science
B. The thinking curriculum in mathematics and science
C. Literacy in mathematics and science

When and Where
Venue: Colac
Date: Tuesday 7 June 2005
Time: 9.30am - 3.30pm
8.45 Registration for 9.30am start
(Tea and coffee on arrival)

More detail, including the names of presenters and addresses of venues, will become available on the websites: www.mav.vic.edu.au and www.stav.vic.edu.au.

Cost (inc GST and lunch)
$160 Members (MAV/STAV)
$210 Non-members (MAV/STAV)

Participants attend all three sessions.

Session A: Assessment, reporting & curriculum planning
This interactive workshop will investigate assessment practices and curriculum planning in line with VELS guidelines that can inform your planning and teaching and clarify how well students are progressing.

Session B: The thinking curriculum, motivating & supporting under-achievers
Support your students to act as thinkers. This workshop will provide practical examples and various tools to model how students can become active participants in their own learning and teachers can promote higher order thinking, cater for different learning styles and differentiate instruction.

Session C: Literacy in mathematics and science
This workshop will model strategies which promote a deeper understanding of the literacies involved in mathematics and science.
